Tax Relief on Widely Consumed Articles

4356. SHRI SATYA PRAKASH MALAVIYA: SHRI DILIP SINGH JUDEV:

Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state: (a) what is the basic consideration for identification of "widely consumed articles" and articles of mass consumption" for the purpose allowing tax relief in the 1995-96 Budget;

(b) whether the detergent, nearly 70 per cent of which is produced in the non-cower detergent sector and consumed entirely by the poor and lower middle class, is an essential commodity of mass consumption;

(c) if so, why detergent is subjected to 30 per cent since 1991-92 and no relief on the tax burden on detergent has been considered necessary since then;

(d) whether there is any other "widely consumed" and "common consuption' manufactured goods which is subject to same level of duty of 30 percent;

(e) whether Government will consider reduction of duty on detergent also in consonance with its commitment to reduce excise duty burden on "widely consumed" and "Common consumption' and

(f) if not, the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRE OF FINANCE (SHRI M.V. CHANDRASHEKARA MURTHY): (a) Excise duty on goods is prescribed taking into account all relevant considerations, including its nature, pattern of con-suumption and use, demand and supply position, and general class of consumers.

(b) and (c) The prices of detergents vary widely and they are used by large coross section of the people. For the present the excise duty 30 per cent is considered as appropriate rate of duty on detergents;

(d) Goods, such as, instant coffee, pan masala, aerated water, cigarettes, chewing tobacco, snuff, white cement, cosmetics and toilet preparatioas, attract excise duty of 30 per cent or higher:

(e) and (f): At present there is no proposal under consideration of the Government to reduce excise duty on detergents.
